BIG SUIT AGAINST GOULD.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The Commercial Advertiser says: A suit involving five million dollars is about to be commenced against Jay Gould and Russel Sage, as trustees of the consolidated mortgage on the Kansas Pacific railway, by foreign holders of bonds issued under the mortgage. Certain facts were elicited during the recent examination of the affairs of the Pacific railways by the United States Pacific railway commission, which have long been suspected by the interested parties, but which they were unable to prove. Now all is made clear and this suit will be the result.

It is stated that in 1879, when the plan of consolidation of the Kansas Pacific and Union Pacific roads was about to be carried into effect, Sidney Dillon, by preconcerted arrangement, had an attorney bring action against Gould and Sage, as trustees of the great Kansas Pacific blanket mortgage, to release 30,000 shares of Denver Pacific stock from lien of mortgage. This stock was worth $100 per share, par, but at this time was of no great market value. In this unique case, in place of the ordinary legal delays, the answer was served on the following day, and application was made to Judge Donohue for the appointment of H. H. Rugles as referee within the next two or three days. A so-called trial was had before the referee, during which Dillon testified that Denver Pacific stock was worth about $200,000 or $300,000, though the face value was $3,000,000. The report was confirmed and judgment entered. The $3,000,000 worth of stock was released from lien of mortgage and transferred to Gould and others as individuals. The whole suit, involving so large a sum of money, was commenced and ended inside of a week. On the same day, or the day after the stock was transferred, the consolidation was consummated, and shortly after Denver Pacific stock was worth its face value. Had it remained under lien of consolidated mortgage each bond issued would have been worth its pro rata share, or $3,000,000 more than it is to-day. This, with interest, would be about $5,000,000. It is to secure a proportionate share of this that the foreign bondholders propose to bring their suit, claiming wrongful deprivation, and that a court of justice was improperly used to give a color of legality to robbery. The case bids fair to be one of the great lawsuits of the day.

Clear the Way

Without loss of time, when the intestinal canal is blocked up by reason of constipation, chronic or temporary. It should be borne in mind that this ailment is prone to become lasting and obstinate, and breed other and worse complaints. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the precise remedy to remove the obstruction effectually, but without drugging or weakening the blocked bowels, a consequence always to be apprehended from the use of violent laxatives, which are among the most pernicious of the cheap nostrums swallowed by the credulous and misinformed. The flat of experience, and of the medical fraternity, sanctions the claims of this standard agent. Not only as a source of relief and permanent regularity to the bowels, liver and stomach, but as a means of remedying and preventing kidney and bladder troubles, and fever and ague, it is without a peer.

Thirty Wrecks Between Cape Cook and Cape Beale.

PORT TOWNSEND, May 25.—The revenue cutter Olive Wolcott, Capt. Glover, returned to-day after an unsuccessful search for the crew of the ship St. Stephens, which was ascertained to have been wrecked on a reef off Cape Cook on April 9. The vessel was loaded with 2,200 tons of coal from Seattle for San Francisco. The Wolcott arrived at Kyquoot sound on Monday, where an Indian village is located. They reported that during a heavy southwest gale on the night of April 9, the ship encountered a reef which exists off the entrance to this sound, and next morning only a portion of her hull was visible. Three White hall boats were washed ashore, two of which were badly stove in. The third was uninjured, and is now being used by the Indians. A compass case containing private correspondence to Capt. Douglass of the ship St. Stephens, the ship's account, stores, pictures belonging to the captain's daughter, and several domestic geese, came ashore on April 10.

Not the slightest indications could be obtained of Capt. Douglass, his family or crew. They must have undoubtedly perished while endeavoring to leave the vessel, and the strong current which prevails along the entire western coast of Vancouver island has carried their bodies north along a desolate and uninhabited coast.

The brig North Star, which sailed on March 3 from Seattle for San Diego, loaded with lumber, was found on Portland point, the hull being in a good condition, keel up.

The brig Irene was next found on Hesquit point. During the voyage from Cape Cook to Cape Beale thirty wrecks were found, some of which have been there for years. The beach is covered with new lumber. A reward of $1,000 for information of the crew of the St. Stephens was freely offered to the Indians, who exerted themselves wonderfully to obtain any information concerning the crew, but without success.

The cutter Wolcott was gone four days, and spoke the sealing schooner Kate and Anna, bound north, on Sunday.
